FOREWORD

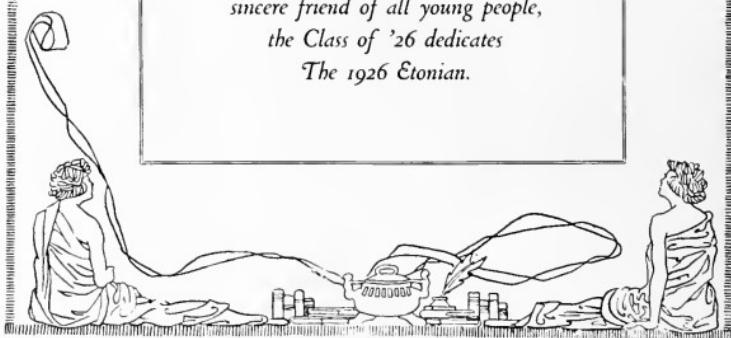

However clear and unforgettable the impressions of class and campus activities now seem, they will all too soon grow dim and blurred. It is these memories of happy school life that this book aims to preserve for those later years when memory becomes more and more a solace to the soul.

In and of the Past

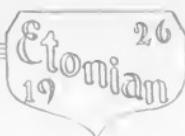

A quarter of a century has rolled by in the history of Elizabethtown College. The school has grown from birth, through infancy, childhood, youth, and adolescence successfully. It is now in the period of maturity. May it pass through this stage successfully and honorably!

The first meeting of a committee to consider the building of the college was held at Reading, November 28, 1898. The locating committee met at Mountville. On June 7, 1899, at a meeting held at Elizabethtown, it was decided to locate Elizabethtown College where it now stands.

On March 4, 1901, Alpha Hall was dedicated and the school was moved from the Heisey Building in Elizabethtown to the Hill. Then on March 4, 1906, Memorial Hall was dedicated; this building was erected to the memory of J. H. Rider, a faithful supporter of the school. Again on June 7, 1921, there was the dedication of the third of the regular college buildings. This was the Fairview Apartments; the honor for the christening of this building goes to one of the members of the class of '26—Miss Lydia Landis.

An out-standing event in the history of the school occurred April 26, 1917, when the Eastern Pennsylvania District of the Brethren Church took over E. C. as church property. Probably the greatest event in the history of the college took place on December 21, 1921, during the presidency of Dr. J. G. Meyer, when students and faculty were informed that Elizabethtown was a standard college. The courses were revised and standardized, resulting in the approval of five standard courses leading to the Baccalaureate Degrees. October 25, 1923, a letter from the University of Pennsylvania informed the school family that E. C.'s graduates would be admitted to that institution on the same basis as graduates from other schools.

The history of the college is interesting not only in the growth of the number of buildings and important events, but also from the point of view of the occupations of the Alumni.

IN AND OF THE PAST—Continued

These statistics show the following:

Home-making	55
Medicine	7
College Professors	31
Mission Workers	24
Business	143
Ministry	49
Farming	13
Teaching	165

Although the college is owned by the Church of the Brethren, many other denominations are represented in the student body. The number of Brethren students has thus far been in the majority. The influence of the college is spreading, extending to all parts of the country. May our college ever go on and on with her motto ever before her: "Educate for service."

The Twenty-fifth Mile-stone

Elizabethtown College celebrated the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of its founding November 13 and 14, 1925. The first session, which opened in the afternoon of November 13, dealt especially with the history of the school. The President of the Board of Trustees, S. H. Hertzler, in his opening remarks pictured the early development of the school from a few students and a small student body to its present status. The Dean of the College then gave very interesting statistics of the school. President Ober closed the session with an address, in which he presented present needs of the college.

The town was represented at this program by the Town Council, the Board of School Directors, and many prominent business men. Following the program these men, together with the Faculty, were entertained at a banquet in the College Dining Hall. These business men, representing various organizations of the town, brought greetings to the college and expressed appreciation for the work done by the school.

The celebration of the Quatri-centennial was continued on Friday evening in an educational program. "The May and Shall in our School Law" was discussed by Professor J. W. Snoke, Superintendent of the Lebanon County Schools; Dr. H. H. Appel, President of Franklin and Marshall College, gave a very inspirational address on "The Work and Worth of a Small College." He brought greetings from our neighbor college and also congratulated E. C. on its remarkable progress in its short existence.

The founders of Elizabethtown College had in mind a school which would develop the spiritual together with the social and intellectual sides of life. With this aim in view Elizabethtown College was founded, and the founders have succeeded in establishing a distinctively Christian college. On Saturday afternoon, November 14, the Christian Education of E. C. was emphasized. A large number of Brethren ministers were present and gave beneficial remarks on the value of a Christian education. Dr. I. Harvey Brumbaugh, of Juniata College, brought greetings from this sister college and delivered a short address. Following the program the patrons, students, parents, and faculty spent a few hours in the dining-room, where old friendships were renewed and new friendships were made.

An Alumni Program concluded the celebration of this anniversary. Professor J. W. Kettering, an alumnus of Elizabethtown College, presided. Many of the Alumni returned to their Alma Mater to witness the celebration. Professor C. L. Martin, of Lancaster, gave an inspiring talk on "The Alumni and their College."

President Ober capped the entire Anniversary occasion by announcing "Some Projects Under Way." One of the most vital problems facing the College Administration is the need of a new gymnasium. President Ober announced that the Alumni Board of Directors had selected a committee to plan and secure funds for a new gymnasium to be erected at an approximate cost of forty thousand dollars with an endowment of twenty thousand dollars. Next President Ober announced that the Gibble Building Fund Committee were to raise funds to fulfil pledges made by the Gibble families and had just elected John M. Gibble to be chairman of a committee to execute a definite active canvass of the Gibble clan. As a memorial to Miss Elizabeth Myer, President Ober announced that the room now occupied by the Dean of Women is to be preserved in her memory.

Two prizes were established of ten dollars each. One prize was offered by Reverend Edgar Diehm of Ohio to the best extemporaneous speaker among the students. The other prize was offered by Dr. Marburger, Instructor of Extension Courses, to the student who has the highest Bible grades along with a strong and influential character.

The Quatri-centennial was a success; nevertheless, E. C. expects to make still greater strides in future years.

To the Members of the Senior Class.

You have looked forward with fond anticipation to the attainment of graduation, which is a very commendable goal. As a group of seniors you have striven to the same common end. In this purpose you have all shared in interest and effort. Few friendships are more enduring than those formed during the close contacts of common activities in school life. The pleasant relations which have existed between the student body, the faculty, and your class-mates will afford you many pleasant memories. Some of the large benefits resulting from class organizations come from the numerous opportunities of and the exercise in forbearing with one another in the course of the adjustments which must be made if we are to abide loyally and faithfully by the action of the majority. As you go forward into the large experiences of a cruel world you will find that the exercise of such adjustments to environment gracefully and harmoniously made will be one of your largest conduct assets.

Our associations with you have been most pleasant. Our hearts are hurt at the thought of your leaving. The untried future challenges your best endeavors to do well the work which you have decided to undertake. And your triumphs and successes in the lines of proper endeavor accomplished along the straight-edge of equity, justice, and mercy shall make us glad also. Your successful careers founded on the principles of righteousness shall constantly add to our joy. Your griefs and sorrows shall not escape our notice and can not remain un-shared by us. You have displayed too keen an appreciation of the deeper things in life in these happy associations among us to tempt any of us to believe that you expect a life of continuous sunshine. You realize that there are experiences ahead which will test your power of endurance and your capability of adjustment. As you grow still wiser you will appreciate the rainy days of life because through them you will be able to enjoy the sunshine more. You must expect to be misunderstood at times when you are doing your very best. You must expect criticism to be passed upon your actions at times when it is least expected. "Accustom yourselves to injustice." If your education has meant but in part what we hope it has, you will be equal to these tests. By virtue of the stress and strain of your endeavor you will be in position to appreciate the calm of joy that can come only to those who successfully achieve under adverse conditions and in face of opposition.

Your choices will determine your destiny. We can but urge you again to make a life that in all things places first things first, to choose that the Lord Jesus Christ, through the leadership of the Holy Spirit and in harmony with the will of God, shall dominate your entire career. May you walk through life a living witness unto Him, unashamed and unafraid, remembering that with Him as your abiding Companion there can be no failure. May we add that in our opinion without Him there can be no real success. Go whole-heartedly forward; make life radiant wherever you go through the glow and glory of gladness of His service.

As students you now receive our farewell and we shall hope that you will give your continual interest and support to your Alma Mater. May you find your highest joy in the service of the Heavenly Father as you follow Him in serving mankind throughout a long and useful career. We pray His choicest blessing upon each of you and hope earnestly that your portion may be that tranquillity of soul which is possible to the pure in heart. May the end of life find you facing undauntedly the glow of life's sunset in the hope of a glad eternal Dawn.

Sound advice and cultural instruction are always appreciated by intelligent youth as a priceless heritage from past and passing generations. But when behind the teaching there is the sacrifice and service of the teacher, when along with the precept comes the example of actual abnegation of selfish privileges and pleasure, the youth inherits not only advice and instruction, but also an eager desire to live it out; and thus students of Elizabethtown College are "educated for service."

CLASS SONG '26

Come now this day of days,
Part soon we must;
Our lives to other ways
Now we will trust,
Hearts beating ever high
Hopes all afame,
Yet do we pause to sigh—
Breathe soft a name.

CHORUS

Friend of tend'rest years,
Joy is tinged with tears,
Dear old E. C., dear old E. C.
If on land or sea
Far from home and thee,
Our lives will honor thee,
Dear old E. C.

When years have passed away
Fondly will cling
Lessons that day by day
We've learned to bring
Into our lives to make
Hearts brave and strong,
Ever for thy dear sake
We'll right all wrong.

As we now from you go,
Blessings, we pray,
Follow you ever so
Gently all day—
Teachers so true and tried,
Friends old and new—
Heav'n's grace be at your side
To carry thru.

MENNO JACOB BRUNK

"Brunk"

A.B. in Liberal Arts

Harrisonburg, Va.

"With malice toward none,
With charity for all."

Here is a man whose industry, character, and loyalty are hard to beat. He hails from the far-famed Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Connect this with the fact that he is finishing his college work in the Garden Spot, and there will be small wonder at his present attainments.

Menno has the distinction of having travelled a good deal, for after graduating from Broadway (Va.) High School he toured Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, and parts of Canada.

This man, of comparatively wide experience, has about him a certain dignity and quiet reserve, which readily distinguish him from all others. He is a conscientious student and his contributions to class recitations have always been helpful and instructive. As a practice teacher in Biology he won deserved respect from the Academy students. His characteristic laugh is quite an evidence of mirth within.

The class of '26 is mighty glad to have Brunk among its members, and Princeton will receive a worthy product of Elizabethtown, when he enters the former next fall.

DORSEY F. BUTTERBAUGH

"Dorsey"

B.S. in Science

Rheems, Pa.

"O, what may man within him hide
Though angel on the outside."

Three years ago, when this stately young man made his appearance on College Hill, every one sat up and took notice. He came from Indiana. Before coming to E. C. he took one year of college work at Manchester College, and taught one year in the mountains of West Virginia. The first year he was here he served as Hall Teacher, but now he lives at Rheems with his wife and daughter.

Dorsey's personal magnetism is wonderful. But watch out for his wise cracks! He is full of them; his humor is immense. His heart is warm. His good-natured disposition has won for him the esteem of all on College Hill.

Dorsey is one of our student ministers. His kindly way of saying things makes any audience responsive. At the present time it is to sciences that most of his interest is devoted, and it is through the mastery of these that he hopes subsequently to attain note in the medical profession. He has already gained some experience along this line, having served as an attendant at the Masonic Homes Hospital last summer.

We're with you, Dorsey, as you play the scientific game.

JOHN FRANKLIN BYER

"Byer"

A.B. in Liberal Arts

Harrisburg, Pa.

"And when a Lady's in the case,
You know all other things give place."

AIM—To be popular.

And Byer is successful in his aim. He is the most popular man on College Hill, especially "entre les femmes." He is a member of practically every organization. This year he is the honored president of the Y.M.W.A. He is the efficient captain of the negative debating team. His flow of oratory is unexcelled. Although John has probably more to do than any other man on the Hill, he never forgets to scatter sunshine wherever he goes. He's always on hand, whenever there's fun; every one likes him, and he likes every one.

Byer has been at E. C. for his four years of college work. We think he has learned much. On every worth-while subject he has something to say, and he says it in an authoritative way, (although his authorities are sometimes wrong). He usually wins his point.

Byer has chosen to become a sky-pilot. He has already had some practice in his home town, Harrisburg. Next year he expects to go to Princeton for his final training. If he does as well out in the wide world as he has done on College Hill, he is sure to succeed.

JAMES HENRY DANKEL

"Jim"

B.S. in Science

Topton, Pa.

"If any choice remains to me,
Then give me death—not mathematics!"

Well, here's Jim, the naturalist of the class of '26. You just ought to see him in his room once. His collection of fauna and flora, which consists of anything from a corn "plumule" to a "tobacco worm", is a source of constant wonder.

Jim graduated from High School in 1917, from Normal School in 1919, in addition to work at Muhlenberg and Schuylkill Colleges, but in all of these his bane has been mathematics.

Of course the class was glad to have a man with such a formidable array of "larnin'" join them this year. Jim soon won to himself a host of friends on College Hill. His witty sayings on the philosophy of life and ideas of general affairs are strictly unique. He likes to work and has little time for "fool bissness." He spends his pastime with his saxophone and cornet, and he is no mean artist on these instruments.

A man with such a striking personality, a big heart, and a desire to do something, as Jim has, cannot help but make good in his chosen work.

RUFUS K. EBY

"R. K."

A.B. in Education

Manheim, Pa.

"It's the song he sings, and the smile he wears,
That's making the sunshine everywhere."

Rufus Eby, the worthy president of the Senior Class, has been known on College Hill since 1920. He is a fine example of what a college education will do for a man. He is an ideal student. He carries heavy programs and somehow manages always to know his lessons. No matter where you meet him, he always has a pleasant greeting for you.

His fine school spirit has won for him some of the most responsible offices in the college organizations. Where he shines most is in the musical organizations. His diaphonous tenor voice is charming. He draws folks to himself. The president of the Freshman class finds in him a guiding star and gets from him advice and counsel, which are good for the Freshmen as well as for the Seniors. He is a fine public speaker; his bearing on the platform is well nigh perfect.

Lancaster County is not large enough for such a man as this. He makes frequent trips to the Lebanon Valley, where he has an "abiding" interest.

This man will accomplish things, or surprise us all.

IRENE S. FRANTZ

"Irene"

B.S. in Science

Elizabethtown, Pa.

"Live for Something, be not idle,
Look about thee for employ,
Sit not down to useless dreaming,
Labor is the sweetest joy."

Who is the lass so fair of face, and none can hope to fill her place; who has so high and noble aim; who never works for gold or fame? Who has the friendship that's worth-while, who always greets you with a smile? Who has a helping hand to lend and always ready to befriend? 'Tis she that sees with eyes afar, the heathen dark beneath yon star; who wants to give her life, her hand, and leave her home, her friends, her land, to serve and teach in pagan land. Who is this girl so good, so true, who wears our purest White and Blue? Irene, 'tis you! So on your way! Success to you! The class will prize whate'er you do.

EILEEN M. HESS

"Eileen"

A.B. in Liberal Arts

Elizabethtown, Pa.

"Tis not the lip or eye we beauty call,
But the joint force and full result of all,
For all the beauteous qualities we in her see,
Eileen's life to us is ecstasy."

Here is a girl who attracts attention not by boisterousness or gaudiness, but by her loveliness and her remarkable abilities in artistic, musical, and linguistic spheres; just take another glance at the cartoons of the Etonian and listen to the class song, and you will appreciate the products of her talents.

Eileen has a charming personality. She is very capable of adapting herself to being gay, sympathetic, or serious, as the occasion demands. She has many friends of both sexes on the "Hill" and in other colleges.

Whether her teaching career be short or long, we feel certain that she will be loved and admired by her students. She is worthy of praise and admiration.

NORMAN J. HUTCHISON

"Hutch"

B.S. in Economics

Cordova, Md.

"Never trouble trouble till trouble troubles you."

Here is a man of rare abilities as well as likes and dislikes. His habits are in a class by themselves. Often we may find him seated calmly in a chair, notebook in hand—simply thinking, which to him means a quality of which the people are being robbed today. Aptitude for vicariousness is one of his outstanding pursuits. He aims to get the other person's viewpoint as well as project that of his own to the one from whom he receives.

His interests are primarily in business circles; however, we are aware that Norman enjoys freedom among the fair sex. He attaches meaning to his daily visits to town, as we know by the reports he gives upon his return.

The business world is waiting to receive a man of such business-like qualities to assist in putting "time and money" on a commercial basis.

It is needless to say that he will be very successful in his chosen field of activity, since he has put his heart and soul into his task.

FRANCES S. MUSSER

"Musser"

A.B.in Liberal Arts

Mount Joy, Pa.

"Laugh and grow fat."

This important young lady hails from the neighboring town of Mount Joy. She is, as John Byer says, the ideal girl, one to be admired. When there are any school problems to solve, she is ready to lend of her keen intellectual service. When there is work to be done, she is among the first to roll up her sleeves, don an apron, and "pitch in." Frances is quite versatile, ambitious, industrious, and studious. Last semester she was president of the Ladies' Student Council, and the girls were so well pleased that they reelected her to the council, an honor very seldom bestowed upon an individual.

Her marvelous skill as a debater has upheld the honor of Elizabethtown College. She has convinced us that the United States will not enter the League of Nations. Her athletic ability is appreciated by the Senior Girls' Basketball Team. Musser has been loaded down with work; still she finds time for studying and for social engagements.

In brief, Musser is a student, a teacher, an orator, an athlete, a thinker, a worker—just the girl you're looking for.

JOHN S. PFAUTZ

"Pfautz"

B.S. in Economics

Ephrata, Pa.

Here we have a real hard-headed business man. This astute, energetic individual is the treasurer, you will notice, not only of the Senior Class, but of the Homerian Literary Society, of the Y.M.W.A., and of the Men's Debating Association. The Seniors hope to see him in Washington as Secretary of the Treasury sometime. Besides keeping treasurer's accounts faithfully, he has proved his efficiency and ability as Business Manager of the Etonian.

John's sole athletic pursuits are juggling figures and pounding his typewriter. He is very busy with his business affairs, but occasionally he takes time to go up on "High." Pfautz has been a valued member of the class of '26 for two years. As he now takes his B.S. degree in the commercial field, his class-mates have perfect confidence in his ability to succeed in whatever place his ambition calls him to fill.

GUY RUFUS SAYLOR

"Saylor"

A.B. in Liberal Arts

Manheim, Pa.

"Study to be quiet."

AIM—A plus.

We herewith present one of our dignified Seniors, an exceptionally fine student, a great orator, a master wit, the brains of the class. Although all this, Saylor is quiet and unobtrusive. His thoughts are centered on his studies, particularly languages and literature, for he would much rather associate with Virgil than attend a social function.

He has, from early life, shown a great interest in education. After attending High School and Normal School and teaching three years, Saylor has come to E. C. for his A.B.

Studies do not claim all his time, however, for Saylor is an earnest supporter of the literary activities of the college. His power in argumentation partly accounts for the success of the negative debating team this year. He has also won distinction as an entertainer with his readings of pep and humor and his musical entertainment with his ukelele.

We predict for Saylor a successful and brilliant career as a teacher.

ELLA E. STEFFY

"Steffy"

A.B. in Education

Elizabethtown, Pa.

"As pure as a pearl
And as perfect; a noble and innocent girl."

This lady of refined character, high ideals, and a pleasing personality is the embodiment of an example for others. She comes to us with two years experience in guiding "Young America". We always think of her as one upon whom we can depend to have things accomplished in time and have them well-done. In all her class work she stands for preparedness and thoroughness. Not only in the class-room does she shine, but also on the basketball floor, on the tennis courts, and on the Lake.

The religious life of this lass is also outstanding. She takes an active part in Sunday School work and in her home church as well as in outpost Sunday Schools. She has had experience in Vacation Bible School work.

Neither must the social life of this lady be overlooked, for if you watch you will see that she has a special interest in Lebanon County extension students.

The best wishes of the class accompany her as she embarks upon her teaching career.

MARY F. STRICKLER

"Pop"

A.B. in Liberal Arts

Mount Joy, Pa.

"But indeede,
A friend is never knowne till a man have neede."

And what boarding student has not occasionally needed a substantial, home-like meal? Well, that's where Mary, who lives but a few miles from the college, has functioned one hundred per cent. The Strickler home is famous for its dinners of chicken and mince pie.

"Be a friend" seems to be Mary's motto. She is gentle-mannered and kind-hearted—the kind of person who makes life easier to live. Not only is she friendly and good-natured, but also capable and dependable. In athletics, debating, Student Council, and "chauffeuring" she has demonstrated her versatility and usefulness.

Mary was an original member of the class of '20. For one year she was missing from the ranks and was gaining teaching experience in a rural school. After receiving her degree she aims to teach history in high school.

Who can refrain from wishing her the best success?

JOHN D. TRIMMER

"Trimmer"

A.B. in Liberal Arts

York, Pa.

The sterling characteristics of John are charming, his fertility of intellect is amazing. He is the class philosopher and psychologist. He is a literary genius. There would be no Etonian this year but for John, and we're sure the debating would never be done. And then as editor of "Times" on the Hill, he always was there and worked with a will. Upon the piano he plays with great skill, indeed there is no place he cannot fill. The Senate, the class-room, the desk, and the stage—all reach out to him their tasks to engage. Our class is so proud of its "Babe" big and strong, that it's sure, as are you, he will push right along. We wish him success, good luck, and good will as he goes from among us on old College Hill.

EARL B. WALTERS

"Waiters"

B.S. in Science

Florin, Pa.

"Straight thinking, hard work,
Fair play, giving service."

Of all the students on the Hill none are so scholarly from a chemical point of view as our gentleman under discussion. He is a great chap in all respects. Naturally he excels in sciences—all sorts of sciences. Among his specialties are chemistry, biology, and the science of making love. From the latter study a rich reward was harvested last summer. He certainly is a dignified somebody, usually riding in a car or walking carrying a cane.

After spending some time at Grantham, Earl cast his lot with us. We surely are proud of him—we can't help it. His kindness is so evident, his optimism so rejuvenating, his fellowship so cordial, that every one feels honored to have formed his acquaintance. We know his success is certain. The class wishes him God-speed in all his efforts, for Earl is a worthy man. Yes indeed, his wife should be proud of him, too.

CHARLES EDWARD WEAVER

"Chas"

B.S. in Science

Manheim, Pa.

He's sweet of disposition,
He's loving, wise, and kind,
He's full of true affection,
He cannot be defined.

Speaking of personality, this young man has it, heaped up, pressed down, and running over. His past has been wonderful, but nothing to compare with the present. Mr. Weaver has had the advantage both of a fine heredity and of an excellent environment, being a preacher's son, and hailing from a farm in the Garden Spot.

Gazing upon this meek countenance, one would never suspect the abundance of wit, mischief, and humor that lurks in the hidden recesses thereof. But it is always the unexpected that is the most delightful.

Charles is preparing for the medical profession. Indeed, he is very proficient in dissecting. Give him a cat and a few good instruments and he will show you the entire internal anatomy of the creature in short order. This extensive biological training secured for him the position of laboratory assistant during the second semester. "Chas" has also gone through the ordeal of being a hosiery salesman as well as being a newspaper reporter of no mean repute.

MABEL BOMBERGER YOUNG

"Bommie"

A.B. in Education

Elizabethtown, Pa.

"Keep your face always toward the sunshine,
And the shadows will fall behind."

Mabel is a quiet, smiling, unassuming girl, who surprises by her industriousness, for she receives two degrees—A.B. and Mrs.

She came to us as a young bashful girl, taking her preparatory work in the Academy and then entering the Freshman class with us and finishing her course; during this time she has had considerable experience in travelling in the summer to Bethany Bible School and to the seashore with her chum, Mary Baugher Salas.

We remember Mabel has been taking music lessons and playing the piano. We appreciate her music.

She is kept very busy at present, going to school and keeping house at the same time. If she is ever absent from class we must remember she has Charlie to feed.

FREDERICK W. ZUCH

A.B. in Education

Maytown, Pa.

"Just another golden link
In our chain of '26."

This capable young man is a very valuable addition to our class. He gives us some weight in the world of affairs. Although he has not been on College Hill during the year, he has been doing his duty in training the lads and lassies of Maytown, Pa. He is at present an exceptionally fine mathematics teacher, and, of course, after receiving his degree he will be much more efficient.

He not only loves to feed on books, but he also feels very much at home in the dining-room, or any other place where eats are to be found. Last summer he was always the one to give the signal when the dining-room door went open. You could hear his jovial "Door's Open" all through Alpha Hall—almost.

The best wishes of the class of '26 go with him.

HELEN I. WITMOYER

On January 11 the Senior Class lost one of its brightest members,

"And when she had passed
It seemed like the ceasing of exquisite music."

Miss Witmoyer entered Elizabethtown College in the fall of 1925. She enjoyed her stay here and did much hard work. She knew how to use time. Although she always managed to have her lessons well-prepared, she ardently supported the activities of the college. More than that, she was ever ready to give a kind word or lend a helping hand to a fellow-student.

Miss Witmoyer was a forceful debater, an accomplished musician, quite a literary artist, an ideal student. The commercial teachers knew they could always depend on her giving her best as a practice teacher. The under-class girls knew her as a real big sister.

"None knew her but to love her,
None named her but to praise."

Though our affiliations with her were rudely severed, and we keenly felt her loss, her influence and ready response to the call of duty go with us and inspire us.

Senior Class History

Before we as Seniors separate let us go back and review some of the various experiences of the past four years. Those of us who have not been members of the class during the entire four years feel we have missed something. We congratulate the five members who have been with the class from the beginning; these are Mrs. Charles Young, Frances Musser, Mary Strickler, John Byer, and John Trimmer. We are the first class to receive the benefit of four years of standardization as a college.

Even as Freshmen, the class of '26 excelled all previous classes in that we had a written constitution, which has stood the test to the end, with little or no amending. We also have the honor of being the first class who really organized as a class in the Freshman year. So you see we laid a solid foundation on which to build. To assist us in building up our reputation as well as our character, we were given Professor A. C. Baugher as a class adviser.

In our Sophomore year we came back to College Hill thinking it was good to be here, and with the assurance that this year would have much in store for us. We now began to enjoy the variety that is to be found in college life. We had become more familiar with the curriculum and consequently had more time to spend on the social and recreative life of the group. Our Hallowe'en social was held at the home of Mary Strickler. Our Thanksgiving social took place in the college dining-room. The annual spring outing was enjoyed on May 24, 1924, when we motored to Gettysburg.

As Juniors we became more and more conscious of our responsibilities and obligations. Space will not permit details for this year's activities; but this much can be said: our Junior year was much the same as the Sophomore year, except that it was intensified, more dignified, and much more conclusive and practical.

As Seniors, many of our hopes have been realized, some of our dreams have come true, some of our plans have materialized, and still there is so much to do. This year was surely the most memorable of all. We enrolled with twenty members (a fine large class to be sure). Our first social or rather educational feat was our trip to New York City. The party consisted of eighteen members. We left on Saturday morning and returned Tuesday night. This was an event or rather a series of events that is indelibly stamped upon each of our minds.

On Wednesday morning following Christmas vacation, Professor Ober announced in Chapel that Helen Witmoyer, a loyal and beloved Senior, was ill at her home with typhoid fever. On the following Monday morning we received word that she had passed away. Surely this was an irreparable loss, not only to the class, but to the school. The Seniors, with a few intimate friends and some of the teachers, attended the funeral.

A few weeks later we were startled by another bit of news of quite a different nature. Miss Mabel Bonberger was taken ill with matrimonial fever and succumbed January 23. The man is Charles Young. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young were given a royal reception in the college dining-room the following Monday evening. The class can now boast three married couples.

Thus we have tried to review in a hurried manner some of the events of the past four years, and we trust that in doing so we have strengthened the ties that have bound us so firmly together. And now, just a word to our under-classmen. Accept our challenge, hold high the standards and ideals which your elders have so nobly and so thoughtfully raised for you. Success to you and your efforts. Best wishes to all from the class of '26.

*It is for us to discharge the high duties that devolve on us, and to carry our race forward. To be no better, no wiser, no greater than the past is to be little and foolish and bad;
it is to misapply noble means, to sacrifice glorious opportunities for the performance of sublime
deeds, to become cumberers of the ground.*

Class Poem '26

When all the leaves are turning brown,
Will we with hearts serene,
Be able to regard E'town,
And know that we've been keen.
To bring to her naught but renown,
When leaves are turning brown?

Just now when all the leaves seem green,
How filled with hope are we!
We feel we're masters of the scene—
Of mountain, plain, and sea!
But ah! 'Tis meet to judgment crown;
For green leaves turn to brown.

As from our Alma Mater's halls
To life and tasks we turn,
May we go forth where Duty calls,
And Truth and Right ne'er shun;
For then we'll have no cause to frown,
When leaves are turning brown.

The Class of '27

DESMOND BITTINGER—This outstanding young man has distinguished himself in many of the activities of the school. As a preacher, he has had a great deal of pastoral and evangelistic experience. As president of the Student Volunteers, he is leading that body to new heights. As a debater, many are the times he has helped to "bring home the bacon." Nor does he ignore the social side of life. This delightful combination of seriousness and fun, of study and play, of high ideals and unselfish service is—Desmond Bittinger.

FANNIE BRUBAKER—"To know her is to love her." She possesses even in the whirl of this twentieth century civilization that womanly virtue of a quiet, gentle reserve. It finds expression like the lovely flowret growing silently within the garden wall, giving its sweet perfume and scenting the whole flower bed with its fragrance. Fannie is one of those conscientious persons who, when asked to do something, immediately and satisfactorily complete it. In the Student Council, in the Volunteers, on the hall she has given hearty support and interest. Yes, she has won a place in our hearts.

ELI M. ENGLE—This brilliant young man, better known as Eli, was born in the Garden Spot in the vicinity of Mount Joy. Although he was not fortunate enough to rise high physically, he has surely done so mentally. Throughout his school career, Eli carried the honors as star of the class. Ever since he appeared at E. C. he has proved his intellectual ability in school work. He is president of the Junior Class. He is active and successful in inter-collegiate debating. After finishing his college course he expects to teach languages in high school.

PAULINE GREENE—"Then give to the world the best you have,
And the best will come back to you."

This seems to be Polly's motto. She surely has given her best to her class and to all of her school-mates on the Hill. We need only mention such terms as "Welfare", "Debating", and "Big Sister", and every one knows where Polly stands. Polly, no matter what you may undertake, we know that the best will come back to you.

ELI KEENEY—Keeney is one of those unassuming fellows who serve as balancing agents for the rest of us. He doesn't say so much; he does. After teaching for two years he came to E. C. For some reason or other Eli goes home frequently. But sometimes his Ford sticks at York. During the summer he sold books, canvassing Elizabethtown and parts of Lebanon County. As a treasurer and speaker for the Volunteers he is proving invaluable. In whatever field he enters Keeney will serve.

PAUL KREIDER—This sturdy youth, who wishes to graduate from college and then to be an instructor in high school, hails from Annville. Paul loves books and is a talented reader. He also loves athletics, his major sports being basketball and baseball. May the future hold rich stars for this capable young man.

Paul through his efforts reaches his aim,
Though the way be long and weary;
He pursues his tasks in life's great game
With a resolute heart and cheery.

ANNA LANDIS—Here's our quiet Junior from Lancaster. You say the day students are classed with the noisy group? Well, here's an exception. Although she is quiet she likes fun as well as any of us. We often find her smiling as she watches the performances of the other girls in the day students' room. Although silent usually, she responds fluently in the class-room. She is one of our conscientious and studious girls. Keep on, Anna, and some day you will be found quietly but successfully instructing in some Lancaster County High School.

GEORGE RUTH—This fellow is popularly known as "Babe" because of his interest and ability in baseball. Babe has a friendly disposition, a pleasing personality, and a wholesome love of work and play. These qualities soon gave him recognition as an able and trustworthy student, executive, and socializer. He is known for his humor, optimism, and hopeful outlook on life. He is sure, with such qualifications, to succeed in his chosen field.

CHARLES CASSEL YOUNG—Charlie became a member of our class in the fall of 1925. He is an industrious, conservative lad and can always be found at his post of duty. His high ideals and capacious understanding have won for him the hearts of all his class-mates and fellow-students. This was proved by the royal reception he received when he returned to school with his bride.

AMMON ZIEGLER—This is a man with endless capacity. If ever you want sentiment raised for a certain project, leave it to "Zig." He'll put it across, for he is a man of endurance and fighting power. He is the man that is responsible for the building of the college lake last fall; he is the man who made skating possible after the snowstorm; he is the man who made soccer what it is on College Hill. He loves sports of all kinds. He is especially fond of taking the fairer sex autoing in his Jewish Packard.

SOPHOMORES

Standing (back row)—Maude Benedict, Emmert McDaniel, Paul Groff, James Miller, Kurtz King, Clifford Schott, Elizabeth Holsinger; (middle row)—Virginia Cassel, Prof. J. I. Baugher, Ellen Merkey

Searched—Kathryn Heefner, Ralph Clopper, Earl Kipp, Mildred Hackman

The Class of '28

MAUDE BENEDICT—Some girls must constantly remind themselves that they should be lady-like, but "Benny" is so genuinely, unconsciously a lady, that the naturalness of it adds to her charm. Benny can play the piano, but she has such a modest opinion of her musical ability that we seldom hear her.

VIRGINIA CASSEL—Quietness and modestness. Virginia is very quiet and decorous usually, but if no one knows the answer to the teacher's question, ask Virginia, and she will save the day and pilot the class safely away from disgrace. She concentrates in her studies, and her success is well deserved.

RALPH H. CLOPPER—"Clopper", the Sophomores' efficient class treasurer and basketball captain, is pursuing a commercial course at Elizabethtown. He proved to be an expert assistant circulation manager the first semester and consequently was elected business manager of the college paper the second semester. He has large interests in the Freshman Class.

PAUL GROFF—"Groffie", our star peep-shot on the Soph basketball five, comes from Quarryville, Pa. Groff has been teaching and is working for an A.B. degree in Education. He has a well-deserved reputation of being a "jolly good fellow", for he is always at hand with his Overland touring car.

MILDRED HACKMAN—"She doeth little kindnesses which most leave undone or despise." Mildred is one of the kindest girls in the Sophomore Class. "She has truly "a generous soul and a warm, noble heart." It is almost a treat to be sick if Milly is nurse. With practice teaching, Volunteer work, chemistry, and a Sunday School Class, she leads a busy life.

KATHRYN HEEFNER—Kathryn is one of those rare combinations of originality and fun. If she is on the committee success is inevitable, for whatever she undertakes, whether it be an essay or "beating" someone in croquet, conquer she will. But in practice teaching she shines most on account of originality.

ELIZABETH HOLZINGER—Betty surely shines in athletics; whether in the "gym", on the lake, or on the tennis courts, success is hers. And what would the Ladies Quartet do without Betty's rich alto voice? By no means least among her many accomplishments is taffy-pulling. Betty, there is surely magic in your fingers.

A. KURTZ KING—This is the class chemist and one of the most conscientious students of which the Sophomores can boast. He played a sterling game of basketball as forward on the "Fighting Five." Kurtz was on the Student Council the first semester and did good work as secretary of the Y.M.W.A. and on the social committee.

EARL S. KIPP—As class president he has guided the class of '28 very successfully through the second year at E'town. Besides playing a strong game as guard at basketball and third at baseball, he is an active Volunteer and Chorus member and shines in history. During the first semester he did good work as a reporter for the "Times" and was elected to the assistant-editorship the second semester.

EMMERT McDANDEL—"Mac" is the class philosopher and "man of mystery." When he speaks we all sit up and take notice. He is one of our farmer recruits, but has had several successful years as a teacher and is now working toward his B.S. in Economics.

ELLEN MERKEY—"Long live the merry, merry heart that sings the whole day through!" Merkey, we envy your sunny disposition and contagious laughter. Won't you tell us wherein lies the secret, that we too may attain the art? But Ellen is serious when occasion demands, and we love her beautiful, modest Christian character which cares cannot mar.

PAUL L. OVERDORF—"Shakespeare", as our vice-president and literary man is known, hails from Jersey Shore, Pa. His very inclusive vocabulary and thorough grasp of English qualified him for the position of Editor-in-chief of the "College Times", and helped him to be a successful debater and to edit the Homerian Review in an interesting way. On his A.B. path he shines in all his classes, especially in psychology.

VANCE M. ROTHROCK—Here is our six-foot, belated sailor lad from the capital city, who drops in a month late each year after knocking about all corners of the world. He is something of a jack-of-all-trades, but at present is taking a pre-medical course and aspires to doctorship.

MARGARET BELLE SPANGLER—"Her voice was ever soft,
Gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman."

Belle's charming ways and kind deeds have won many friends for her. The charming way she has of doing many kind deeds and saying her happy thoughts have given us all a peep at the womanly heart of her. She did admirable work as class secretary.

The Curriculum.

After this year all energy expended on the Hill will be for the advancement of the College Courses, as this is the last year the Academy will be functioning. We regret to see the preparatory school close, for it has always played an important part in our activities and has passed students on to us; but as the College has an endowment which would be inadequate were it divided with the Academy, it is impossible for the Academy to continue her work.

As we advance from the preparatory school to the College, which has the majority of students, it seems only expedient that the core around which centers all college life, the curriculum, should have mention.

The various courses given include regular four-year courses leading to the Baccalaureate degree; the special courses in Music, Industrial Art, and Sewing; and extension, spring normal, and summer courses.

REGULAR COURSES

These are composed of two general courses of study, namely, the Bachelor of Arts course and the Bachelor of Science course.

In the first, the Bachelor of Arts, opportunity is given to concentrate in Education or in Liberal Arts. Fifty-three students, including those desiring a State Standard certificate for grade teaching, are enrolled in the Education work. Twenty-five are pursuing the study of Liberal Arts.

The second, The Bachelor of Science course, affords opportunity for concentration in Science, Economics, or Commercial Education. The number of students enrolled in each is fifteen, eight, and fourteen, respectively.

A new step has recently been taken in accommodating students by the installing of Course Advisers. This aims to bring the students into closer contact with the heads of the departments in which they are working. When new students arrive they first meet the President and then go to their Adviser, who assists them in enrolling. The Dean has the final check on the enrollment card, however, to guard against any omission that may have been overlooked.

The duty of the Adviser is to plan the courses for his department in accordance with the State requirements, watch the educational trend for any new courses that are coming to the horizon, sanction the use of all texts, and be a friendly counsellor in personal and professional problems to the students in his department.

The courses have the following professors for advisers: A.B. in Education, J. I. Baugher; A.B. in Liberal Arts, R. W. Schlosser; B.S. in Science, A. C. Baugher; B.S. in Economics, H. H. Nye; and B.S. in Commercial Education, J. Z. Herr.

MUSIC

Until recently the students in the Music Department were special voice or piano students, but now a Music Course has been innovated under the direction of Professor and Mrs. E. G. Meyer, who are the instructors. Three students are enrolled in this regular music course leading to a college degree.

The special piano students are taught by Mrs. Meyer and Miss Anna Brubaker, the former giving lessons to eighteen of the more advanced students, while the latter teaches twenty-two pupils in more elementary music.

Professor and Mrs. Meyer also spend much time with the Mixed Chorus, practicing twice each week. They sacrifice much of their time in making the practice valuable to the students, for this work awakens enthusiasm, fosters cooperation, exercises and develops the most delicate of musical instruments, and enriches life. In addition to rendering two cantatas, one at Christmas and the other in the spring, the chorus serves on many programs during the year.

INDUSTRIAL ART

SEWING
CLASS

Art Studies

In selecting courses at Elizabethtown College, one should not overlook the Art Courses. From the standpoint of aesthetic development alone, the art courses are indispensable in the forming of a well-rounded life; and when the utilitarian idea is linked with the aesthetic, as in sewing or basket-making, the art courses become doubly valuable.

Forty students have been enrolled in the art courses during the regular year, and this number is usually considerably augmented during Spring Normal.

Among those enrolled in this list are some home-makers who come in for lessons on some specific phases of the various courses, especially basketry and sewing. This forms a very vital connection between the homes of the district and Elizabethtown College—a tie which we hope will grow stronger every year.

Extension Courses

The extension courses of the school are of two types: those which help the school teachers improve their certification and secure their degree, and those which lead church workers to the completion of the English Bible Course at the College.

Seventeen courses of the first type were given, with an enrollment of ninety-seven students. These classes were conducted at Lititz, Ephrata, Millersville, and Elizabethtown in Lancaster County; at Stewartstown, Shrewsbury, and Glenville in York County; at East Berlin in Adams County; and at Middletown in Dauphin County.

The second type of courses was conducted for the present year for residents only. Four courses were given, two Bible Courses, and two Education Courses, with an enrollment of forty-two students. This type is a new feature in extension work and promises much for the future in linking the college with its constituency.

The instructors are Dr. W. D. Marburger, who gives full time, Professors H. K. Ober, R. W. Schlosser, A. C. Baugher, J. I. Baugher, H. H. Nye, and Martha Martin.

Spring Normal

Last spring, the fourth of May, students seemed to swarm to Elizabethtown College. They came from many counties of Pennsylvania, and a few came from Maryland and Virginia, bringing with them a variety of ideas and interests. When all had arrived, they were one hundred and forty in number.

These students, who had been teaching, decided to continue teaching, but also to become better teachers; hence, they availed themselves of means of professional advancement by coming to E. C.

The Spring Normal was under the direction of the Dean of the College, Professor R. W. Schlosser. The instruction was given largely by the heads of the departments and regular teachers, with the exception of Dr. Marburger and Professor Landis.

New enthusiasm was imparted to the work of the school, for these new students labored industriously for the six weeks of the Spring Normal Session. When June fourteenth arrived the finals were over, and the students had completed their courses.

Summer Normal

The fifteenth of June found many Spring Normal students remaining, and new students arriving, for the nine weeks of Summer School. The enrollment reached one hundred and eight.

Professor H. H. Nye, Head of the Department of Social Science, was director of this session. Eight teachers gave full time and four part time to this work.

Every one who was on the "Hill" last summer during the hot days was fortunate, because the campus, with the shade of its maples and the cool breezes, was the pleasantest spot in the vicinity.

Two evening socials were enjoyed during the term. On account of the unfavorable weather conditions, the first was held in Commercial Hall and Chapel. For the other, a weiner roast, the students hiked to Keener's park, about one mile from Elizabethtown.

Of the Senior Class of '26, seven members were present at Summer School and were enjoying the thought of graduating at the close of the next school year.

Prize Literary Contests

Three prize contests held during the year for the college students are the Homerian Oratorical Contest, the Homerian Essay Contest, and an Extemporaneous Speaking Contest.

The Homerian Oratorical Contest opens the door of opportunity not to the "silver-tongued" Homerian only, but to all who desire to cultivate the art of public speaking and oratory. This is one instance in which the student has a chance to persuade the audience to accept his view-point on a problem that he presents in a burning message and into which he has put his very soul. Fifteen, ten, and five dollars are the prizes given by the Homerian Society.

Last year the winners of this contest were: first, John F. Byer; second, Melvin F. Shisler; third, John D. Trimmer; honorable mention was given Earl Seibert. As two of these prizes were claimed by members of the class of '26, so were the first and second prizes of the preceding year claimed by other members of the class.

This year a number of talented members are preparing laboriously for the event, so that there are bright prospects for the contest which is to be held March 26.

All Freshmen and Sophomores who desire to enter the Essay Contest will have their compositions in the hands of the committee by March 5, for on that date the judges meet in private conference, read the essays, which are expository in nature, and render the decision. The winners will read their essays in a society meeting at a later date. Two prizes will then be awarded; namely, ten dollars in gold and five dollars in gold. Honorable mention may be made at the discretion of the judges.

During the Anniversary program an announcement was made to the effect that Reverend Edgar Diehm, of Youngstown, Ohio, will donate ten dollars as a prize to the winner of an Extemporaneous Speaking Contest. Definite arrangements will be made concerning this contest in accordance with the wishes of Reverend Diehm.

HOMERIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

For fifteen years the motto, "They can who think they can," has inspired the Homerian Literary Society to extend its influence upon the school. During this brief span of years the membership of the society has increased from eleven to one hundred and one. The programs always of a high order, have appealed to young and old alike. The fame of the society rests upon the great opportunity it affords for its members to become good speakers, accomplished musicians, and clever entertainers.

As students leave the Homerian Society, they look back with joy upon the tremendous advantages which they have had through it. May it ever strive upward and onward during the coming years.

Debating

Very early in the school year about fourteen men students met and organized the Debating Association for 1925-'26. An elimination contest, with three faculty members as judges, was held, resulting in the selection of Desmond Bittinger, '27, Eli Engle, '27, John Trimmer, '26, and Menno Brunk, '26, to uphold the affirmative side; also Guy Saylor, '26, Paul Overdorf, '28, John Byer, '26, and Clarence Frye, '29, to represent the negative side.

In addition to continuing relations with colleges debated in past years, forensic relations were opened for the first time with Lebanon Valley College, Annville, Pennsylvania; Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pennsylvania; Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pennsylvania; and Capital University, Columbus, Ohio.

Up to the time of this writing, each team has had three debates and all of them were victories for E. C. In two of these debates the negative team succeeded in obtaining an unanimous decision of the judges.

Not a small part of the success of the teams was due to the hearty cooperation and support of the student body. The inspiration derived from this source is of inestimable value.

This school year also saw the organization of the first Ladies' Debating Association at E'town. Considering that this is the first year of its existence the club has been very successful in its initial efforts to secure debates with other colleges. The schedule includes such names as Temple, Swarthmore, and Ursinus.

A very unique feature of this organization was the debate between the Elizabethtown ladies and the Muhlenberg men, on the question, "Resolved, That the United States government should control and operate the coal mines." Although the ladies presented a very splendid argument, they returned without the decision of the judges.

The tables were turned, however, when the men's affirmative team defeated the Muhlenberg team in one phase of our triangular debate; the men's negative team defeated Albright at the same time, thus making E'town the winner of the triangle.

The program rendered by the Vernon Quintet proved to be very entertaining and pleasing, four of their number having been members of the Cleveland Symphonic Orchestra.

The Fenwick Newell Company was a very pleasing number. The personal touch and delightful informality of some of the members was especially attractive. This company also appeared on last year's lecture course, and we are very sure that it was no mistake to invite them back the second time.

The numbers as a whole were of a very high calibre and were well patronized.

Young Women's Welfare Association

Since February 11, 1921 the Young Women's Welfare Association has been a leading organization in the school. This organization consists of all the women of the school: college, preparatory, boarding, and day students.

The weekly meetings are enjoyed by each member. In these meetings programs are given, consisting of readings, debates, dialogues, vocal and instrumental solos. Sometimes a question-box is opened, and questions of vital interest are discussed. Probably the most helpful discussions are given by the Faculty members on the practical problems of a Girl's life. Professor Schlosser gave a very inspiring talk on "The Ideals of a College Girl." His main points were appearance, ideals, and personality. Mrs. Berger—an authority on etiquette—gave some very helpful suggestions, and Professor Ober's talks are always uplifting to boys and to girls.

The success of these meetings is due quite largely to the social and program committees. The social committee consisted the first semester of Misses F. Musser (chairman), G. Worth, R. Garner, S. Conner, and M. Hackman; and the second semester of Misses Ella Steffy (chairman), M. Kimmel, M. Oellig, and B. Spangler. The program committee consisted the first semester of Misses M. Strickler (chairman), M. Oellig, and Grace Bosserman; and the second semester of Misses A. Roop (chairman), K. Heefner, and M. Richwine. These committees arrange functions anywhere from a simple impromptu program to an elaborate joint Y.W. and Y. M. gathering.

The Y.W.W.A. elects seven of its members to represent it in the government of the school. This Student Council meets with the President of the Y.W.W.A. and the Dean of Women to promote the best interests of the school and meet the needs of the students.

The organization is a leading factor in making the new students feel at home and of providing for their comfort and happiness. In fact, the aim of this organization is to promote among the girls the feeling of helpfulness and school spirit, develop physical, mental, social, and spiritual powers of womanhood, and cooperate in building up a greater and better Christian school.

Young Men's Welfare Association

Every gentleman student upon enrollment is "ipso facto" a member of this live and important organization on the Hill. This association was organized on February 3, 1920, for the purpose of the uniting of the boys in one body, of creating a proper school spirit, of fostering such activities as shall stimulate interest in maintaining a distinctly Christian atmosphere in Elizabethtown College, and of promoting a healthy spirit of self-government.

This association elects by ballot twice a year two Seniors, one Junior, one Sophomore, one Freshman, and two academy students. This body composes the Student Council, whose main functions are maintaining self-government among boys and dealing with disciplinary problems of the school.

The Welfare Association is scheduled to meet every Friday evening. Here the boys are given ample opportunity to express themselves in regard to their school problems. The meetings are very spirited, because they are always accompanied by a short jolly and interesting program, or a talk by one of the Faculty or some other prominent person. Our honorable president has given several heart-to-heart talks to us. These talks foster unity and understanding between student, faculty, and the world. Much enlightenment and invaluable information is also received through joint meetings held by the Y.M.W.A. and the Y.W.W.A.

For the last three years our organization has been represented at the Eastern College Congress held under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The conference last summer was held at Silver Bay on Lake George, New York. This experience and training is priceless, and we covet for E. C. a larger delegation to this inspiring conference in the future years.

The year, and all the associations that go with it, is one long to be remembered; for the boys have greatly profited by the immense problems they were compelled to face and to settle.

Y. M. C. A.—Y. W. C. A.

Elizabethtown's imperative need is really just being fulfilled. The motto: "Good things take time," is never more true than in this case. For years sentiment has been steadily growing toward the organizing of a Young Men's Christian Association, and through the persistent and untiring efforts of the last three presidents of the Y.M.W.A., namely Messrs. M. F. Shisler, R. K. Eby, and J. F. Byer, the trustees of Elizabethtown College voted on January 1, 1926, in favor of organizing a Y.M.C.A. and a Y.W.C.A. A special committee appointed by President Ober is now negotiating plans for the organization. We are sorry that this book must go to press before the organization is completed.

Since there is much misunderstanding in regard to the fundamental principles of the "Y's", we hereby submit "The Purpose", which every active member must sign.

The Purpose

To lead students to faith in God through Jesus Christ.

To lead them into membership and service in the Christian Church.

To promote their growth in Christian faith and character, especially through the study of the Bible and through prayer.

To influence them to devote themselves in united effort with all Christians in making the will of Christ effective in human society, and in extending the kingdom of God throughout the world.

Student Government

Student government has been in operation at E. C. for the past three years. While at the time of its inception, it was barely more than an experiment, it has long since passed the experimental stage, and has taken its rightful place as an integral factor in college life. In taking a retrospective view of its activities, a few facts stand out clearly. Student government has made good. It has brought about a more wholesome attitude on the part of the students toward the regulations of the school, since they feel to a greater extent their individual responsibility for upholding its standards. It has greatly promoted the spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding between students and faculty. The high morale of the student body is at least partly attributable to the student self-government.

Student government is peculiarly adapted to the regulation of the democratic student life of E.C., and we believe that a further extension of this principle would be for the best interests of the school. No student self-government plan is complete without the honor system. Under this plan, which leaves in the hands of the students full responsibility for the observance of the laws, each student promises to confess voluntarily any violations of the laws he has made, and, if a fellow-student refuses to do so, to report to the proper authorities any violation or dishonesty. The fact that this system has worked so well wherever it has been tried, together with the fact that our college, in traditions and ideals, is so admirably adapted to it, furnish incontrovertible arguments for its adoption here. We believe that full self-government, both in form and spirit, would deepen the sense of responsibility in the students, further heighten the high morale existing here, and enhance the already enviable reputation of our institution. Since student government has proved so successful as far as it has been tried, why not "finish the job?"

SOCIAL ENGAGEMENTS OF 1925-6

Socials

Since all are interested in socials and are endowed with the precious gregarious instinct, and since some have this instinct highly specialized, we shall devote two pages to this important phase of school life.

School opened on Monday, September the seventh, and the first thing to do was to get acquainted; accordingly a "get-acquainted" social was held in the college gym. From the beginning every person realized that they were destined to spend some of the happiest school days in their life on College Hill. The next week another similar social was held. By this time many bonds of friendship had been formed and some had even become quite definitely adjusted. This function was held on the beautiful college campus, which added untold sunshine and happiness to the romance of those individuals who had already adjusted bonds.

When Nature was in her gaudy autumn dress and the out-doors were indeed inviting, the College Fall Outing was held. This is an annual affair and all the students look forward to this big event with great anticipation. Even the kitchen force look with interest because it is their desire to satisfy our appetites. We wish to take this opportunity to thank the kitchen force for all their trouble and for the wonderful eats they prepare for us. Those students who didn't walk or ride in automobiles, boarded the ten-fifty-eight A.M. train for the beautiful hills of Conewago. Zeigler deserves special mention here, because his right hand helper, "The Ford," conveyed most of the delicious appetizers to the spot of consumption, even though he did run on flat tires. It was a rather cool day, and the ice cream and some of the members of the party (especially those in Zeig's open air collegiate Henry) had quite a time maintaining a desirable and comfortable temperature. After romping over the hills and playing a few games, we all gladly responded to the dinner call. When all the appetites were satisfied, the party devoted the afternoon to exploring the beautiful surroundings. Time for returning came too soon, but we all arrived safely on the Hill, ready to go to two of our best friends—supper and bed.

Mention should be made of the new sport at Elizabethtown College—horseback riding. "The Elizabethtown College Riding Club" and "Pocahontas" were introduced one afternoon with a magnificent and gorgeous parade. Many were the happy rides the students received from this young filly. The club met with difficulty in providing for Pocahontas' board and lodging, so that after a month of faithful service to the students, the noble steed was sold.

One of the most delightful events of the year was the Hallowe'en Party held by the Y. M. and Y. W. Associations. The students first gathered in the dining-room and were served a fine four-course dinner, with the efficient Freshmen acting as waiters. After we were "shot" by the camera-man, we adjourned to the gym, which was very elaborately decorated. The gymnasium was divided into three sections by shocks of corn. The floor was completely covered with rustling brown leaves. The ceiling and walls were greatly laden with all kinds of Hallowe'en draperies and objects. Here we were first favored by a short program. J. Trimmer and L. Wagner rendered some very loveable songs. Guy Saylor gave some highly-appreciated readings, and Charles Weaver climaxed the program with his supreme wit in telling jokes. Then we indulged in two lively hours of very enjoyable games; and when the ten o'clock bell informed us that it was time for all good little school children to be unconscious, we selected partners and marched out of the gym, singing "Good Night Ladies."

The most elaborate function of the year was "The Unique Tea Room." The posters and placards were so unique that all interest was centered on this most unique function. Yes, the Girl Debators are quite unique, for they were the sponsors of this uniqueness. After the lecture number that evening, everybody was invited to visit "Ye Unique Tea Room." Words are not unique enough to describe the uniqueness of this unique affair, but we do know that from Mother's Pantry were served delicious home-made sandwiches, cake, candy, hot chocolate, pie, and ice cream.

RELIGIOUS

THE ELIZABETHTOWN CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

There are many opportunities extended to the Elizabethtown College student for the development of the religious and moral side of his nature. The chapel service every morning throughout the school year does much to bring the student in direct communion with his Maker. The Wednesday evening prayer meeting is also a developer of the spiritual dynamic. But perhaps the church services in the town church do most in impressing the realities of God upon the students. While not departing from that conservatism which gives stability, nor standardizing its methods to the extinction of initiative, the Elizabethtown Brethren Sunday School shines its light upon college students, guiding them toward the mark of the prize of the high calling in Jesus. Truly the Elizabethtown student has a right to a degree of pride in the splendid atmosphere manifest on the College Campus and in the religious zeal of the professors, expressed in their love and good-will toward all.

Student Volunteers

To get a broader view of world problems and of the way in which we as Christian students can best use our lives in their solution is the one aim of the Volunteer Mission Band. During the year there has been no special campaign for members, but an effort was made to have each Volunteer and prospective Volunteer face the proposition with a clear understanding as to what the declaration card really stands for. One of the problems that has been evident is to get young people to face the challenge for a life of distinctly Christian service, yet not make a decision before they feel sure it is the Lord's work and they have the necessary personal qualifications. It is sometimes believed that any one could do foreign mission work among the people of other countries, because they are so much inferior to us. But we have a misconception if such is our belief, for unless one can be a leader of men in America and can do the things here, he can never hope to work with people of different race, characteristics, and customs.

The Volunteer work of Elizabethtown College is definitely connected with the General Volunteer Movement, for the outstanding problems of mission work are the same, regardless of the various church creeds. Representatives from our school are sent every year to the district Volunteer Conventions. In like manner the Band acts as a mediator between the General Mission Board of the church and the rural congregations of Pennsylvania (Eastern and Southern Districts). A better understanding is generated between the two that we hope will make for harmony in the spreading of the "good news" throughout the whole world.

This little group of students meets every Monday evening in one of the class-rooms to receive spiritual inspiration and power through prayer, meditation, and discussion of Bible topics or other matters of general religious interest. During the forepart of the year Professor Ober gave a series of lectures on the fundamental Bible doctrines. These were explained with special reference to the practices and doctrines of the Church of the Brethren. Later in the year other members of the Faculty gave of their talents that the Band might sense the trend of modern missionary activity and the importance of thorough preparation for a life dedicated to positive mission work.

In the various religious activities of College Hill the members of the Band show a marked interest and throw their entire support into the same.

The deputation work this year has been as large as the churches gave opportunity, and indeed many opportunities have been extended. A great work has been done in this field. A few of the churches visited are included in the following list.

Bible Institute

The annual Bible Institute, held January 17 to 23, proved to be the greatest of its kind ever held here. The fine programs and exceptional opportunities for insight into the Spirit and messages of the Bible which were offered, attracted ministers, Bible students, and the laity from all parts of Pennsylvania and from many of the neighboring states. The college dormitories and the homes of the town church members were crowded with the visitors, and each session of the Institute saw a crowded Chapel and Commercial Hall. Toward the end of the week the attendance increased to such proportions as to necessitate overflow meetings in Room "C" and in the Reception Room; and on Sunday evening the program scheduled for presentation at the college was given at the town church of the Brethren in order to accommodate the ever increasing crowds. On Sunday afternoon, an overflow meeting was conducted at the Church of God in town after the Brethren Church was unable to accommodate the crowds.

A. C. Wieand, President of Bethany Bible School, opened the Institute on Monday morning at 9:00 A.M. His morning subject was "Studies in Philippians"; his afternoon subject was "Fundamental Bible Doctrines"; his evening subject was "Talks on the Teachings of Christ." A. C. Wieand also led group conferences on the "Problems of the Minister" after his regular afternoon discussions. His discussions were deeply philosophical and showed great breadth of religious training and experience. His Friday periods were occupied by Dr. C. C. Ellis, Vice-president of Juniata College.

R. H. Miller, pastor of the church in North Manchester, Indiana, spoke in the mornings on "Studies in the Sermon on the Mount", and while he did not have time to cover all the Beatitudes, he gave some very illuminating interpretations of those on which he spoke, and he was a favorite among the students. In the afternoons he spoke on "Studies in Devotional Life", and in the evenings (Monday, Wednesday, and Friday) he gave "Talks on European Conditions", in which he spoke as an authority, having recently returned from a prolonged continental tour.

Earl W. Flohr, Professor of Philosophy and Psychology at Blue Ridge College, spoke on "Studies in Christian Education" and gave convincing evidence of the exceptional educational endeavors of the Brethren Church since 1850, which amounted in monetary terms to over $6,000,000, excluding unsuccessful attempts. Professor Flohr also led a group conference in the afternoons on "The Problems of the Church School Worker." Brother Flohr's talks, especially his sermons in the Brethren Church in town on Sunday, were addressed particularly to young people and pointed to the solution of many of their perplexing questions.

H. Stover Kulp, a returned missionary from Africa, spoke on "Problems in African Missions." His talks were very interesting and made a great impression on the visitors and students, especially his talk on "What Price Garkida?" His lectures brought home very forcibly the great need for a leader in the African mission field, and of greater sacrifice at home in order to send more missionaries to that suffering continent. Mr. Kulp declared that every Arabian trader is a travelling evangelist, and that the country there will soon become Mohammedan if we do not wield a strong influence for Christianity.

The Saturday morning program, presided over by H. A. Merkey, was attended by a very large crowd, and many were turned away, as also at the Saturday afternoon Educational program, presided over by President H. K. Ober. The principal speakers of the morning Sunday School program were H. K. Balsbaugh, Superintendent of Harrisburg Sunday Schools, Elder Nathan Martin, Miss Florence Gibble, of Lititz, Professor Earl W. Flohr, and Dr. C. C. Ellis, vice-president of Juniata College.

At the Educational program Saturday afternoon, Dr. Ellis spoke on "The High Calling", and President H. K. Ober, and Dr. Edgar Fahs Smith, of the University of Pennsylvania, were scheduled to give addresses, but Dr. Smith was unable to be there on account of illness.

On Saturday evening, the contest in Temperance Essays by the Sunday School pupils of Eastern Pennsylvania was given; the topic was the "Anti-tobacco" question. Robert Gibble, of the Lititz High School, received first prize of fifteen dollars; Beulah Weaver, Harrisburg, second prize of ten dollars; and Beulah Ziegler, Lederach, Montgomery County, third prize of five dollars.

In the evening H. K. Ober and C. C. Ellis spoke at a Young People's Meeting, presided over by Professor R. W. Schlosser.

Among the special numbers provided for the recreation of the people attending the Institute were readings by Mabel Eshelman, Belle Spangler, and Mary Frye; special music was provided by the College Faculty Quartet, the York Male Chorus, and the East Petersburg Chorus. Two interesting talks were given by Elders James A. Sell and S. R. Zug on the old ministers of the Brethren Church.

ATHLETICS

Intra-Mural Athletics

Any form of athletics, whether it be baseball, basketball, soccer, tennis, or ordinary walking, may be considered a means by which youthful vigor may be preserved. It is the basis of a successful life. There is no possible means by which we can take this part of our activity away from every-day living and still retain physical stamina. Should we ever attempt to remove the physical activity from our lives, we would be striking at the very root of our power to be and to do.

Athletics rejuvenates the body by building up worn tissues, thus giving the required tone and zest to the individual's body and mind. It is a vital means by which a vibrant body and a dynamic mind may be retained.

Group competition will also bring about the spirit of fair play and many other moral qualities which go toward building up honest and true dealings with men.

Our college has always found a place for a definite program along the line of physical exercise. During every school year a definitely organized body of students have the privilege to aid in putting across the athletic work for the year. This organization is known as the Athletic Association and is organized with a president, a secretary, a treasurer, together with managers of the various sports. The president for 1925-26 was Rufus K. Eby, '26.

The sports holding the major interests are tennis, basketball, baseball, and soccer; other sports in which the students sometimes indulge are volley ball, rowing, and skating.

Every recreation period is made use of by the students in taking part in some form of athletic activity.

SENIORS

In the fall of 1925, after the basketball season had already opened, the Seniors decided to enter the Basketball League.

The team was duly organized, and Hutchison was elected captain. Upon his election a short practice soon revealed the playing qualities of the team. Trimmer and Hutchison secured forward positions, Byer and Weaver guards, and Eby the center place. Other members of the team playing substitute positions were Brunk and Pfautz. During every game the team has entered wholeheartedly into the fray. The team was much handicapped because it could not secure practice on account of too numerous other activities, and thus was kept from developing its latent abilities.

Nevertheless, the team deserves much credit for coming out and taking an active part in the league. Surely the team displayed a fine school spirit by their affiliation in this division of school athletics.

Early in the season, when the teams on the Hill began to organize their quintets, the Sophomores called a practice game and discovered that five men could be had for a team. After a few games were played, and the players assigned to their respective berths, a very formidable machine was soon evidenced. Two players from the brilliant Freshman team of 1923-24 had returned and also three regulars of last year's Freshmen.

Groff, the famous peep-shooter of two years ago, soon got back into form, as did Clopper, guard and captain, of the same year. The center position is held by Overdorf, whose six feet height is a great asset to the team. King is Groff's running mate and can be counted on to carry his share of the burden in any game. Kipp plays back guard and is very instrumental in breaking up passes of the opponents.

FRESHMEN

Long before the basketball season had fully arrived, the manager of this sport was inquiring among the students as to the possibility of the different class teams. About this time Professor Myers took the Freshman Physical Education Class into the gymnasium and inquired as to the number who had experience in playing basketball. It appeared that several had previous experience in high school teams, and several more manifested the willingness to learn. With a few weeks of practice it became evident that the Freshmen would have a team to enter the league. The Freshmen boys met and elected Deiter, who played forward, captain of the team. Frysinger, who had some high school experience, landed the other forward position. Paul Eshelman alternated with Keinard at center and guard, and the other guard position was taken care of by Galen Kilhefner. Bucher is the substitute player. The average weight of this team is below that of the other teams, but what they lack in weight and size, they make up in speed and spirit. This team is credited with playing the cleanest brand of ball, and whether they win or lose, the same spirit is displayed that makes a true sportsman and an honorable athlete.

ACADEMY

The academy team here represented is one possessed of rare ability and spirit. This year the team is again following its enviable record of previous years. Of all the teams on the Hill, here is one that believes most in the old theory of practice. Early and late one could see some member of the Academy in the gymnasium conscientiously practicing for some coming fray. Herein seems to lie the secret of their success.

So faithfully have they practiced and maintained a system of training that they will again go on record as having the highest position in the league. We are sure that the Academy will leave an enviable record when this team has completed the league games.

With two of the best scoring forwards on the Hill, Shearer—a guard who likes to hold his forward scoreless,—Yost, Snyder, and Minnich playing a strong game, together with Byron and Parsons, two varsity men who have won their positions by their consistent playing, and the center, who has rare skill in caging dashing field goals, they present a formidable combination.

Basket Ball

With the advent of winter in the early part of the year came the desire for the great national indoor sport—basketball. Basketball is one of the most popular as well as most indulged-in athletic activities on the Hill. The game demands the best physical condition and requires the agility and alertness that no other game needs.

After a few practices and games between the different classes and the Academy had aroused sufficient interest, a league was formed of four teams. The Seniors, the Sophomores, and the Freshmen college classes and the Academy presented teams of comparative strength and spirit.

Intense interest was manifested in all the games both by the teams and by their respective "rooters." The standing of the teams in the league does not do justice to the teams as a whole, because in two of the conflicts a one-point margin decided the issue.

Results of first half of League Season:

Team	Won	Lost	Percentage
Academy	3	0	1.000
Sophomore	2	1	.666
Freshmen	1	2	.333
Seniors	0	3	.000

Soccer Football

A new court was recently provided for the enjoyment of this English game. The boys, however, are not well experienced in this contest. There were a few closely-matched teams on the court in the fall of '25, which indicates a renewed interest in this famous sport. The court in the near future will be improved by grading to make it more smooth, after which a new coat of fine lawn grass will cover it. The location could not be at a better spot. The ground is well drained and consists largely of sand, making an excellent bed for the soccer court on our athletic field.

Although foot-ball has almost entirely carried with itself the whole interest in sports at some schools, it has not done so at E. C. Soccer foot-ball will do much for the boys at E. C. to help them keep physically fit, as well as to instil into each participant the most cherished habits of team work and fair play. We believe that well-coached soccer foot-ball is a desirable asset to Elizabethtown College students.

Tennis

Tennis is a most practical sport; it can be played slowly and easily, or vigorously as one chooses. The ladies, too, can play and enjoy tennis; this makes it popular as a social privilege. There are more different individuals who play tennis than are engaged in any other single sport. During the fall season there were seventy-eight different names on the schedule, by which twenty-one persons were assigned a court for an hour each day. On days when the weather and courts were in a favorable condition, there were at least seven courts filled from three to six in the afternoon. Many of the games were doubles. There were always enough eager players to occupy any court of which the assigned person did not make use. Last fall a water system was installed, by means of which the courts can be sprinkled during dry periods.

Baseball

The baseball spirit on College Hill is increasing yearly. Last spring the interest rose to great heights, when the supposedly invincible Academy team was defeated by the Freshmen in the opening fray of the season by a two-one score, after a hard struggle. The Freshmen continued to win as did the Academy, until the deciding games, in which the Academy nosed out the Freshmen in two great games to decide the championship. The Sophomore, Freshmen, and Academy teams were the only ones entered in the league.

Last fall the Academy spring champions presented practically their same winning line-up and were victorious over the College line-up, chiefly because the College, with its splendid material, had not been organized. This array of college talent will surely make itself known before the spring championship is decided. The next baseball diamond, which is already laid out and is to be put in shape next spring, will surely boost College Hill baseball.

SENIOR-SOPHOMORES

On account of the small number of girl basketball players in the Senior and the Sophomore Classes, the Athletic Committee decided that the classes should unite in forming a Senior-Sophomore team. At first, the girls were slow in coming out to practice, but as the time for the first game drew near, they came out for the final preparation.

The team displays splendid team-work and passing, especially the centers and forwards. Miss Merkey, one of the guards, also does her bit in sending the ball toward the Senior-Soph goal. When the ball has left her hand, it is useless to think of stopping it before it reaches the other end of the floor.

Although the girls in the classes do not all come out for practices, they show their interest by coming to the games and "rooting" for the players, thereby furnishing a great deal of inspiration to spur them on to do their best.

Standing—STRAYER, EBRIGHT, WORTH, ROOP, CONNER

Behold the Freshman Basketball Team, composed of quantity, quality, and endurance! This illustrious team has come out victorious in all but one of the league games and in all pick-up games played with college or academy teams. The star forwards, both of whom have played on winning combinations for the past four or five years, showed remarkable dexterity and played with clear insight and great energy. The guards and centers, several of whom were novices at the sport, entered into the game heartily, and did much in establishing the record.

All of the members were given opportunity to play, especially in pick-up games. A splendid cooperative spirit characterized the playing throughout the season, and the Freshman Class is proud of its successful team.

As long as love of the game induces the players to "go after that ball" as it has this year, the team will play to win and will come out victorious.

ACADEMY

Hip! Hip! Hooray! Here we come. Who? Why? The Academy Girls' Basketball Team—to be sure. The basketball spirit aroused not only the ladies but also the lassies, who have shown their interest in the sport by taking active part in playing and in vigorous "rooting" for the able heroes of the opposite sex.

Neither of the games played thus far have been victories for them, but the zest shown by the players is quite promising. It must be remembered that but two of the girls have had previous experience; therefore, with some real practice they hope to score a victory in the near future. And even though this year's girls' team has not been as successful as last year's the Academy boys have made up all deficiencies in the amateur attempts of the lassies.

Never mind, girls; keep the good spirit up. Remember—the best is yet to come!

CHAMPION

Tennis

Tennis is one of the leading out-door activities of the girls on the "Hill." It is a truly democratic sport and is engaged in by most of the students. It is one of the best games for college students because it gives them the needed outdoor physical exercise. It also provides for the development of the social life. These two qualities certainly make a sport worth-while.

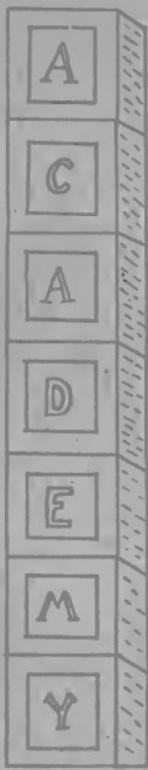

From the very first day of school until the cold weather, the courts are filled during recreation hours, and some students are so enthusiastic as to play in the early morning. Last fall a tournament was staged and increased the interest all the more. Quite a number of girls went out, and the rivalry was keen. The Freshmen proved to be the best players, and final honors went to Miss Wagner, although her last opponent, Miss Garner, proved a very strong one.

The students eagerly await spring, when they can again get out their rackets and meet on the courts.

President	ROBERT MECKLEY
Vice-president	PAUL R. NISWANDER
Secretary	MILDRED EBERSOLE
Treasurer	ROSALINE HECKMAN
Class Adviser	PROFESSOR C. H. ROYER

Our class was organized September 28, 1925. Under the supervision of our class adviser we planned some definite work. The first step to be taken was to dispense with our school socials in order to take a more extensive trip in the spring.

In our class can be found some renowned debaters and excellent musicians. We have an organized male quartet and some fine pianists and violinists. Judging from rumors on the Hill we are expecting some interesting events.

One outstanding feature of our class is the fact that every athletic team on the Hill that has proved its superiority was composed of one or more from our class. The tennis tournament was won by one of our class, and last year's basketball champions included a number from this class.

While we have experienced victories in athletic activities, we remember our motto and try to adhere to it. Our future outlook is promising, and we are hopeful that success may follow each member of the class of '26, along whatever line he or she may follow.

IRENE FLORENCE BAGSHAW

Alexandria, Pa.

"To love and be loved is the greatest happiness of existence."

Irene came to join our class the second semester. Her other preparatory work was taken at Juniata. She has taught two years. Where she attended school the first semester she became deeply attached to one of her classmates of the sterner sex. She has two lovely photographs, upon which she gazes constantly. But she is not grieving, for she finds the "Rays" of E. C. to have a soothing effect on her wounded heart.

What ever the future holds for you, Irene, we wish you success.

MILDRED LILLIAN EBERSOLE

Bainbridge, Pa.

"Billie"

Billie came to us in the fall of '25 from Bainbridge High School, where she took three years of her work. She is a quiet girl not easily excited, and always ready to join in clean fun. In all her classes she shows a marked degree of brilliancy.

One of her qualities we all admire is her love for music and literature. You can generally find her in her leisure hours playing the piano or reading a good book.

We expect Billie to be successful in whatever she attempts to do. The best wishes of the class go with her.

MILDRED MAY HECKMAN

St. Thomas, Pa.

"Milly"

Let us introduce to our friends one of the basketball guards on the Hill. Milly is an ardent lover of the game. Whenever she plays guard we're sure to win. This jolly young lady is bubbling over with good cheer, and her hearty laughter is frequently heard on the halls. She is fond of canoeing Saturday evenings on the lake. Milly is noted for saying precisely what she thinks about a subject. When she is not having a good time, she may be found in the seclusion of her room reading some of the best literature. Her highest aim in life is to become a missionary in the foreign field.

Whatever line of work you take up, Milly, the best wishes of the class go with you.

ROSALINE MAE HECKMAN

Williamson, Pa.

"Rosy Posy"

This happy-faced lassie came to us from St. Thomas High School in 1925. She is a very diligent student, but is always ready for a good time. You can always depend on Rosie giving a full account of last night's ball frolic. She also takes a great delight in Domestic Science and fancy work. She is much interested in her work, especially vocal music. She intends to teach in the primary schools. In the near future we may see her wending her way to the little red school house to train the minds of the young.

Whatever your career is, Rosie, we wish you the greatest success.

PAUL R. NISWANDER

Hagerstown, Md.

"Nis"

"Nis" has a personality which pleases all with whom he associates.

He has been with us three years. His sterling qualities have blossomed forth in many ways, because of the persistent manner in which he approaches his task.

He has gained renown as a debater, athlete, and leader. He is usually found at the head of some organization because of his capabilities. He has served on Student Council, as President of the Literary Society, and as Vice-president of the class.

"Nis" has led the Academy basketball team to two successive championships. He is a well-developed student. He has been very obedient in that he could always be found near the campus.

ROBERT B. MECKLEY

Greencastle, Pa.

"Bob"

Bobbie can live without money or book,
But surely what's lacking is not a good cook.

Bob hails from southern Pennsylvania. After going to Columbia Business College for a year, he decided to come to Elizabethtown.

Bob is a good all-around sport. On the Dormitory one can hear his voice raised in a merry laugh or in some of his old favorite songs, such as "Beautiful K-k-kat" and "O Kathleen."

Bob is a good athlete, taking part in all sports, but excelling in baseball. He is the best pitcher on the Hill. He is also a brilliant literary student. He has been a Student Council member. His sterling qualities and the fact that he never shirks his task have won him the love of all he meets.

ADAM STEAGER

Bellaire, Pa.

"Adam"

"Steady and strong, tried and true,
These traits we have ever found in you."

This fine young man has joined us after graduating with honors from the three years' course in Milton Grove High School. He has wonderful literary ability and soon makes his presence felt in the class-room. He is a very able debater.

He has a fine physique, and he uses it advantageously in his athletic activities. He excels in basketball and boxing. If you want to sleep, step up to him with a pair of gloves and he will give you the opportunity.

He is a dependable member of the class, and our good wishes go with him through life.

RAY S. YOST

Gap, Pa.

"Yosty"

Quiet, noble, and sublime
We find Yosty all the time.

Ray is a one year student, having spent three years at Salisbury High School. When he could receive no more at Salisbury he wisely came to El'town.

"Yosty" is a most studious member of our class, willing to help any one with anything. He has already demonstrated his debating ability and his excellent talent as an actor.

"Yosty" is always there. When there is any kind of meeting, we can depend on him. He has all sorts of athletic ability. As he is the youngest member of the class, we can see nothing but a most brilliant future for him.

CLYDE M. WENGER

Elizabethtown, Pa.

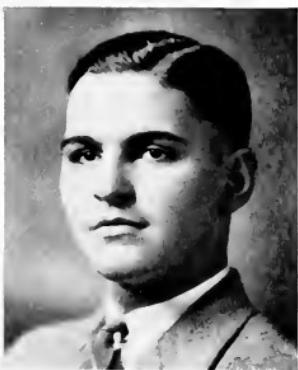

"Wenger"

Wenger is one of our Elizabethtown boys, living on the edge of the campus. After going to high school for two years, he came to finish his preparatory work at the Academy.

His athletic abilities are great. He is one of the best athletes on the Hill. When Wenger goes on the basketball floor a victory might as well be marked up for his team. He is also famous in tennis, baseball, and track.

He has good literary abilities. In debating he has already proved that he is capable of proving his point. He has been president of the Keystone Society, and a member of the Student Council.

As a musician he is hard to beat, especially on the violin.

ALUMNI

"We hail thee Alma Mater dear"

The College Lake

Soon after the Alumni had purchased the athletic field, it was found that a stream of water was flowing through the far part of the field. In the course of time many students saw the possibility of creating an artificial lake. As time passed by, a definite urge was felt in the mind of every individual student. Early in the fall of '24 the Y.M.W.A. held a very enthusiastic meeting. This meeting proved to be one of the chief influences toward having a lake created. It was here that the boys pledged themselves to dig the foundation for the wall, provided a day would be set aside by the faculty for this work. The day was set, and a ditch was dug in a short time. This being finished, the work was kept going very speedily by the Business Manager, J. Z. Herr.

At present the lake covers approximately three acres. It is indeed a constant source of pleasure and recreation to the student body.

During the winter it is used extensively for skating; at other times when the ice has disappeared, the canoes are seen floating on its smooth waters. Canoeing is becoming a well-established sport at college since the students can take a direct interest in this new and worth-while recreation.

The view of the lake is very beautiful, especially at sun-rise and sunset.

This donation is a credit to the Alumni, college, and students, for it increases the recreational facilities, adds to the beauty of the campus, and binds the Alumni, Faculty, and students together, since every one took an active part in its construction.

The Loyalty of Our Alumni.

It is an honor to our Alma Mater for graduates to enter real worth-while vocations and make success for themselves. But if this is all that can be said of us we certainly are displaying a type of selfishness that Elizabethtown College can not be proud of and may not count as an honor.

When we speak of loyalty to our Alma Mater there probably are two aspects, and oft times we stress one more than the other or ease our conscience after we have developed the one aspect of loyalty.

It seems comparatively easy for every Alumnus to recall the happy and profitable days spent in classes, in the dining-room, in social or literary activities, on the halls, on the athletic field, and to cherish the friendships formed on College Hill. There are but few Alumni who will not boost their school and make every effort to correct wrong impressions or harmful rumors; yet the real sacrifice aspect of our loyalty is portrayed when we give in response to a call for a great need.

Professor J. S. Harley has said, "A good school can always count on its former students, they will fight jealously for its honor, they will rally to its support and make great sacrifices when the life of the institution is at stake or when a great crisis is on." The writer takes for granted that every Alumnus shares fully the first aspect of loyalty, but the plea of this article is for a greater sacrifice when the institution presents a real need.

The Alumni Association has already manifested this latter aspect in donating to its Alma Mater a twenty-acre athletic field. The Association has quite a constructive program ahead, which may seem difficult to realize, but as soon as each member is willing to make great sacrifices, wonders can be done.

To be specific as to what is meant, will you recall with me, Brother Alumnus, the pleasant and helpful efforts spent in the college gym during recreation hours? How much more could we have enjoyed those hours spent in developing our physique, if we had had a more adequate gym with more adequate equipment? In fact, no argument is necessary to prove to any Alumnus and to you the class of 1926, soon among our number, that our Alma Mater presents a vital need in the form of a real gymnasium. This need challenges every loyal Alumnus to sacrifice to the limit, so that this one goal in our constructive program may be realized.

Jerome P. Fleishman said, "You cannot accomplish what you can't imagine. The minute you say to yourself: 'Oh, that isn't possible,' it isn't possible for you. But some other fellow, who with his mind's eye sees the thing, will come along and do it." The plans for the erection of the gymnasium and the methods of raising the money are only being worked out. Let every member do his part and share the burden. It can be done and must be done, fellow members; therefore we must imagine the new gymnasium on College Hill, believe that we can place it there, pray, plan, work, and give.

ADA G. YOUNG

It is with deep regret that we, the Alumni of Elizabethtown College, do here dedicate this page to the memory of Ada G. Young.

In the hearts and lives of a large number of the Alumni, her spirit was one of the very choicest type.

When we review her past activity in school and in life outside of school, we see a picture of what may truly be spoken of as the Radiant Life. Service seemed to be her sole aim, no matter where she was.

May her life be a silent testimony in measuring the value of all that is good, true, and beautiful.

The Alumni

The Alumni of Elizabethtown College are constantly alert to the new and ever growing possibilities of their Alma Mater. The organization is working in a quiet way in order that the vibrant cords of loyalty and support may be made to respond to the appeal for large service by aiding materially the growth of our institution.

This is accomplished by having annual reunions during Commencement Week, when every member can again associate and renew acquaintance with his or her school friends. These reunions usually include meetings of a business and social nature. Both of these types of meetings go a great way in fostering a whole-hearted and purposeful attitude in favor of taking greater strides in the material improvement of the school.

In membership the association is constantly increasing. Every member enters this field of endeavor with a profound conviction that when he or she contributes toward a cause of such vital importance, an unmeasured amount of good will be accomplished.

The student body has been almost unceasing in expressing their appreciation for the use of so large an athletic field together with the lake, which has been the dream of many in the past—but now is a supreme reality.

We sincerely hope that the Alumni will continue to express their spirit of unity in similar donations, which will indeed be most worthy assets to their Alma Mater.

Always There in Men's Wear

THE MORE we know and see of Elizabethtown College Students, the more we are impressed with the sound and sincere character of the institution they call "Alma Mater."

Accept our felicitations, Class of 1926

A RESEMBLANCE

"Your husband says he leads a dog's life," said one woman.

"Yes, it's very similar," answered the other, "he comes in with muddy feet, makes himself comfortable by the fire, and waits to be fed."

Miss Spangler: "Are late hours good for one?"

Miss Frantz: "No, but they are fine for two."

"What's the difference between a hair-dresser and a sculptor?"

"Easy—the hair-dresser curls up and dies, and the sculptor makes faces and busts."

COULD ANYTHING BE MORE WORSE THAN THIS?

Prof. Gingrich: "What is cosmopolitan?"

Mr. Saylor: "Suppose there was a Russian Jew living in England with an Italian wife, smoking Egyptian cigarettes near a French window, in the room with a Turkish rug upon the floor. If this man drank American ice cream sodas while listening to a German band play 'Come Back to Erin,' after a supper of Dutch Cheese made up as Welsh rarebit, then you might be quite safe in saying that he was a cosmopolitan."

Oh! What is so rare as a day in June?

I'll answer this famed explanation—

It's finding a Democrat holding a job

In a Republican administration.

Eli Engle: "What would a man be who hid behind a woman's skirts?"

Steigelman: "A magician."

"Suppose your chick would lay an egg, would you give it to me, Johnny?"

"Naw, I'd sell it to a museum; that chick's a rooster."

Judy: "The doctor says that I have camel's feet."

Miller: "How's that?"

Judy: "They're gone a long time without water."

HUMOR -Continued

Her cheeks he said are roses red
And lovely as can be,
Her rhy lips are treasure ships
That speak of love to me.
But when to kiss this little miss
The booby took a notion,
He found the lips were painted ships
Upon a painted ocean.
Moral: He kissed her anyway.

ATTENTION, MEN!

First Constable: "Get the number of that car?"
Second Constable: "Nope, see that gal in the hind seat?"
First Constable: "Sure did."

Prof. (to student entering ten minutes late): "When were you born?"
Student: "The second of April, sir."
Prof.: "Late again!"

Simp: "What's the earliest mention of finance you know of?"
Samp: "Pharoah's receiving a check on the bank of the Red Sea."

When a fellow is allowed to muss a girl's hair he considers it a net gain.
She considers it a net loss.

Puppy love is the beginning of a dog's life.

Mumma: "Humph! Hm! He'd run before he'd fight me."
Wenger: "I guess he'd have to."

First Flea: "Been on a vacation?"
Second Flea: "No, on a tramp."

Mr. Byer: "If I should kiss you on the forehead, what would you do?"
Miss Green: "Call you down."

A PLACE TO SAVE MONEY

HUMOR—Continued

Keeney: "Been to church this morning, Groff?"

Groff: "Do my clothes look like they'd been slept in?"

Patient: "Doctor, don't you find it inconvenient to travel miles to see me?"

Doctor: "Oh, no; I have another patient near here, and so I can kill two birds with one stone."

Ruth: "Let's go hunting for rabbits?"

Dankel: "I ain't lost no rabbits."

A fire broke out in an insane asylum and one of the inmates broke his thumb and two fingers yelling, "Fire!"

"The only two who can live as cheaply as one, are the flea and the dog," says Dorsey Butterbaugh, who ought to know.

NO JOKE

In spite of the fact that nearly all stenographers are women, there are more men taking dictation from women than there are women taking dictation from men. (Signed by a committee of which Charles Young was chairman and Dorsey Butterbaugh, secretary.)

Though college days
Have their delights
They can't compare
With college nights.

Who never to himself has said,
As he stubbed his toe against the bed,

WANTED!!

To Press Trousers. Special reductions for one-legged man.

Young Girls. To sew buttons on fourth floor.

By Restaurant Proprietor. Man with wooden leg to mash potatoes.

CAN'T AND CAN

You can't cure hams with a hammer,

You can't weigh a gram with a grammar,

Mend socks with a socket,

Pick locks with a locket,

Nor gather clams with a clamor.

You can't pick locks with a pickle,

You can't cure the sick with a sickle,

Pluck figs with a figment,

Drive pigs with a pigment,

Nor make your watch tick with a tickle.

You can't make a mate of your mater,

You can't get a crate from a crater,

Catch moles with a molar,

Bake rolls with a roller,

But you can get a wait from a waiter.

Robbie ran into the sewing room and cried: "Oh, Mamma! There's a man in the nursery kissing the nurse."

Mamma dropped the sewing and rushed for the stairway.

"April fool," said Robbie gleefully. "It's only Papa."

YE ANTIQUE TEA-ROOM

Enterline: "Were you the young lady who took my order?"

Waitress: "Yes sir."

Enterline: "You're still looking well. How are your grand-children?"

The first electric light—Noah's arc.

ROBBERY

"You had to hold me up to do it," said the sweet young thing after the big tall man had given her a kiss.

*Mother Will Save Money and Get More Comfortable, Long-Wearing Shoes
for the Kiddies if they Ask for—*

Skeezix

COPYRIGHTED U.S. PAT. OFF.
OUTGROWN BEFORE OUTWORN

Economy is an important feature in buying children's shoes. Their needs seem never to end. Why not, then, insist upon this shoe that serves so capably the requirements of low price and long wear in stylish, comfortable models? Built up to this standard of perfection—not down to a price.

Kiddies know—from the baby up comes the satisfied acknowledgment that "Skeezix feels good." Flexible sole is one reason; Puritan welt another; roominess of construction, a third. You'll discover many more yourself. Be sure to ask for "Skeezix"! Many styles; a variety of colors and combinations for dress or play.

A SUGGESTION

She: "I believe I've danced with you before, haven't I?"

Jim Miller: "I dunno. If you have, why don't you do it now?"

Mrs. Harley: "Jacob, the garbage man has come."

Professor (in deep thought): "My! My! Tell him we don't want any today."

SANITATION

"Do you think it healthful to keep your hogs in your house?" a social investigator asked a native of Arkansas.

"Waal, I dunno," he drawled, "but I've been keeping my hawgs there for fourteen years and I ain't never lost one yet."

STAFF MEETING

Trimmer: "Now be free to make any suggestions. We're going to vote on every suggestion tonight."

Butterbaugh: "I suggest we adjourn."

Visitor: "Say, I hear you have a car, does it rattle yet?"

Zeigler: "Rattle? I'll say she rattles—sounds like a skeleton having a chill on a tin roof."

Mammals are classified thus: man and the lower animals. (Man does the classifying).

"Of all weeds, widow's weeds are the easiest to kill," observes Professor Rose. "All you have to do is to say, 'Wilt thou?' and generally they wilt."

Brunk: "Which is worse, man or woman?"

Saylor: "Well, I don't know exactly; when you tell a man something it goes in one ear and out the other; when you tell a woman something it goes in both ears and comes out of her mouth."

They sat on the porch at midnight
 Their lips were tightly pressed.
 The old man gave the signal,
 And the bull-dog did the rest.

SCENE

She is stopping at the mountain house.
 But great seclusion seeks;
 She always dresses in the dark,
 Because the mountain peaks.

DEPRIVATION

Eby: "What happens to the man who is too honest to steal?"

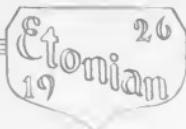

Steffy: "He never gets any kisses."

Queen of Spain: "The baby has the stomach ache."

Lord Chamberlain: "Call in the Secretary of the Interior."

Rev. Brown: "Master Brown, I hear your father is ill."

Johnny Brown: "Oh, yes; he has such an awful gnawing sensation since he swallowed his false teeth."

UNDER THE MOON

It was autumn. The great opalescent moon shone down on the trees, and the two who sat on the campus bench were gazing out into the slightly ruffled waters of the lake. Only the occasional sound of a falling leaf and the ripple of the water on the shore broke the romantic silence of the evening. The moments passed into an hour. At last Harry spoke: "Say, George, give me another match, my pipe went out."

FIFTY-FIFTY

In the sweet silence of the twilight they honey-spooned upon the beach. "Dearest," she murmured tremulously, "now that we are married, I—I have a secret to tell you."

"What is it, sweetheart?" he asked softly.

"Can you ever forgive me for deceiving you?" she sobbed. "My—my left eye is made of glass."

"Never mind, love-bird," he whispered gently, "so are the diamonds in your engagement ring."

DANGER AHEAD

Speaking of white mule, two rustic sports were uncertainly flittering their way home from the county seat.

"Bill," said Henry, "I wancha to be very careful. Firs' thing y'know, you'll have us in a ditch."

"Me?" said Bill in astonishment, "Why, I thought you was driving."

SOME OLD STIFF

Pastor: "I shall speak on 'Married Life' at the morning service and 'Eternal Punishment' in the evening."

Voice in the Rear: "Aw, don't repeat yourself."

AMENITIES OF A BY-GONE DAY

A young lady lost her glove, and it was returned by a wealthy old bachelor named Page, who wrote this note: "If from your glove you take the letter 'g' that glove is love, and that I have for thee."

Her reply: "If from your name you take the letter 'p' the Page is age, and that won't do for me."

LAN' SAKES

Wash White got a job in a saw-mill. He was fascinated by the buzz saw. He wondered if it was as sharp and terrible as the boss had said. To test it he touched it gently with his finger. Buzz! and the finger was no more.

As Wash was tying up his hand the boss came back.

"Hello, there, Wash. What's the matter?"

"Buzz saw done cut my fingah, sah."

"How the dickens did that happen?"

"Ah dunno, sah," said Wash. "Ah just touched de darn contraption like this an'—for de lan's sake, der's amudder gone!"

HARD LUCK

You came into the world without your consent, you go out against your will, and the whole trip is exceedingly "rocky."

If you are little, the big girls kiss you,

If you're big, the little girls kiss you.

If you are poor, you're a bad manager;

If you are rich, you are dishonest.

If you need credit, you can't get it;

If you are prosperous, every one wants to favor you.

If you are in politics, it is for graft;

If you are out of politics, you are of no good to your country.

If you don't give to charity, you're a stingy cuss;

If you do, it's for show.

If you are religious, you're a hypocrite;

If you are not, you are a sinner.

If you are affectionate, you are soft;

If you are not, you are cold-blooded.

If you die young, there was a great future before you;

If you lived to an old age, you missed your calling.

If you save money, you are a miser;

If you spend it, you are a loafer.

If you get it, you're a grafter;

If you don't, you're a bum.

So, what's the use?

PRINTING

We make a specialty of

PUBLICATIONS—Weekly or Monthly
FOR SCHOOLS, COLLEGES, ETC.

With two Cylinder Presses, Three Linotype Machines,
Folders, Stitcher, Etc.

Our plant is equipped to do just that kind of work in a satisfactory manner and at the right price. Our "city equipped print shop in a country town" accounts for the interesting prices. Let us quote you on your publication, or any other kind of book work.

MISS "DOTY" BAUCHER

YEARS of careful and painstaking service and a vast fund of knowledge gained during this time, form a very substantial guarantee back of all the photographic work of the Blazier and Miller Studio.

Coupled with this is our sincere desire to please. You can rest assured that it is our aim to have each individual piece of work reflect our best workmanship and efforts.

We present here a printed replica of just one example—a smiling tribute—to the justly proud father, Professor Charles A. Baucher and we trust, the Blazier and Miller Studio.

Pittsburgh Printing Company

530-534 FERNANDO STREET PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA.

GOOD printing, like refinement in manners, is obtainable only by those who study and practice that which is best; and whoever wishes excellent typographic style, simple but not trivial, distinctive but never showy, must give consideration to such printers as are capable of doing the best.

This Company is anxious to get in touch with the Alumni of this Institution of Learning.—whether professional or commercial—with a view to supplying their Printing Requirements. We are able to print a voluminous illustrated Catalog, or a daintily engraved Wedding Invitation.

WE MAKE A SPECIALTY OF PRINTING
YEAR BOOKS, REPORTS, BULLETINS,
AND VOLUME WORK FOR HIGH
SCHOOLS, COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

We solicit correspondence concerning Printing, Bookbinding, or Commercial Loose Leaf Ruled Devices.
